

A NEW MILK SUBSTITUTE FOR CALVES

H. Stankevičius

Summary. The paper discusses the possibility of feeding young calves on a newly made milk substitute enriched with acidophylic microflora. Attempts were made to determine the effect of the substitute on the growth of calves as well as on the morphological and biochemical properties of their blood. The substitute was also tested for its digestibility. Qualitative indices of the new milk substitute were determined.