

STRUCTURAL ANALYSIS OF PIGS CORNEA DEPENDING ON AGE

V. Babrauskienė

Summary. The importance of knowing the corneal thickness in humans and animals has steadily increased. The literature on the morphological features of the eye in respect to the age of different domestic animals is meagre. The purpose of our study was to determine the corneal thickness of pigs and piglets and to evaluate their statistical differences.

Keywords: cornea, cornea of pigs and piglets, light microscopy.