

MILK SUBSTITUTE PRESERVATION TECHNOLOGY

A. Žemaitienė, H. Stankevičius

Summary. A new technology for the production of a canned milk substitute is described. Factors that have a major effect on the duration of storage of the substitute were determined. Changes in acidity, amino acids and in microbiological indices were studied.

Keywords: liquid milk substitute preservative, titratable acidity, storage temperature, duration of storage, amino acids.